

Welcome to Dublin Brochure

Name: _____ # _____ Date _____

My small group includes: _____

Objective: to become aware of how people in our community work and have fun together.

You will need to become an expert on the city of Dublin. Your group needs to research our city and present the following information in the form of a brochure.

1. It's location on the California map.
2. Determine which county it is a part of.
3. Describe which region of California it is a part of.
4. Determine what type of community Dublin is (rural, suburban, or urban).
5. Describe important places in Dublin that a newcomer would want to visit.
6. Describe the climate.
7. Describe some of the ways people in Dublin like to have fun(recreation).
8. Where are some of the places that people work?

Decides who will research which items or whether you will do it together as a group. Take notes and label each section or notes with a heading. You will present your information in the following ways:

1. Make a "Welcome to Dublin" brochure. Describe our city using the information you researched. Make sure the brochure includes well presented information, pictures and illustrations. You will need to work together to decide who will write or type up the information and then "cut and paste" it together to fit onto one brochure.
2. Prepare an oral presentation that your group will give to the class.
3. Turn in your completed notes and map work.
